Another error found on District 9 ballots

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Sample ballots have been printed a third time for the Nov. 3 District 9 School Board election.

A mistake on the specimen ballots was found Friday, said Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles. The sample listed District 9 candidate Robert Douglas twice and did not include candidate Bob Bell.

Last week, a mistake was found on the first ballot printing that listed School Board President Kelly Hogan and board Secretary JoAnn Macios first and second on the ballot, respectively. Macios had signed a certification verifying the ballot information, though candidate Paul Ray Bowler had won the lottery drawing to be placed first.

Superintendent GIB Walmsley said the mistake was caused by a clerical error at the School Board office.

Bowles ordered the ballots reprinted Oct. 7. The new ballots were delivered on Friday to the clerk's office, where another mistake was found.

Bowles said a Chicago printer that specializes in printing election forms had printed the ballot incorrectly.

"I'm very upset about this," said Bowles about having to print the ballots three times.

The specimen ballots are what appear in the voting booth and are used by candidates to inform voters of their ballot numbers and positions.

Bell said he suspected the first error was purposely made to favor Macios and Hogan. But at a School Board meeting on Tuesday, he was told otherwise. (See BALLOTS, Page 8A)

Board to help AIDS victim

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — The District 9 Board of Education told the mother of a 7-year-old victim of AIDS and hemophilia that a classroom for the child will be sought.

Jason Robertson's mother, Tammie, of Granite City, met with the board in closed session Tuesday.

"I spoke with them about the difficulties of in-home tutoring," Tammie said Wednesday. "I feel the teachers are a little permissive because of Jason's problems. He calls his teachers by their first names and they let him get away with it."

Board member David Partney said three places to educate Jason will be considered. Tammie said she does not mind if the boy is in a classroom by himself, at first, because she said AIDS-infected students from elsewhere may want to attend the class. Partney agrees with the regional education concept for student victims of AIDS.

"I don't think you can shove fear down people's throats."

I think we're going to be one of the first to do this," he said. Tammie said the regional school would be a way to educate Jason without having to deal with the fears of parents of non-infected students, such as those who protested against the admission of an AIDS victim to Jefferson School in Belleville.

"I don't think you can shove fear down people's throats," she said.

The School Board will act promptly on Tammie's request, Partney said.

Tammie said she wants Jason to live as normally as possible, and education is part of the process.

"I just can't see him at home being tutored in the 12th grade," she said. "He just won't stay this way the rest of his life."

On Tuesday, Jason's aunt, Donna Harper, of Granite City, said he suffered a seizure Monday due to weight loss and that evening he was diagnosed as having a brain tumor that could lead to blindness. Tammie said Wednesday that the boy had recovered and was doing well at home.

IP employee/board member votes against IP resolution

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

NAMESKI — Trustee Norm Hall voted against a resolution Tuesday requesting Illinois Power Co. executives to cut costs and increase efficiencies to avoid rate increases. Hall is an IP employee.

The resolution, introduced by Trustee Ken Davis, passed the Town Board 4-1.

The resolution also asks IP executives to assist citizens suffering hardships due to the rate increases and urges Gov. Jim Thompson, members of the Illinois Commerce Commission and state legislature to take action to mitigate or stop the increases.

Hall said the rate structure in effect isn't out of line compared to other areas of the country. Hall gave trustees a chart comparing IP's rates to those of other power companies in the state. The chart showed that IP's annual rate of $649 was the lowest based on an average monthly usage of 700-750 kilowatts, according to the ICC.

"I understand it was a great shock for your rates to go up the way they were this summer," Hall said. "As far as lowering the rate, I would not look for that to happen."

Hall said IP pays more than $30,000 a year in property taxes in the township. IP purchased the Northgate Industrial Park property on Illinois 3 and brought in Precast Metals and Heitman Steel, he said.

IP also established the Energy Assistance Foundation to weatherize homes for elderly, handicapped and low-income residents, Hall said.

"You can't really say we don't care about the elderly or the people on fixed income," he said.

Hall asked the other trustees to table a motion by Davis to pass the resolution so board members could have further time to study it.

Davis said the purpose of the resolution was to let Thompson, the legislature and the ICC know that township residents would like to have more of a voice concerning the rate increases.

"This is not a direct attack at Illinois Power Company," Davis said. "I'm not an advocate of cutting Illinois Power off at the pass."

"I didn't think it was that derogatory against Illinois Power," Supervisor Harry Briggs Sr. said Wednesday.

Second TIF proposed for Pontoon

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH — Creation of a second Tax Increment Financing (TIF) District redevelopment project in the village was discussed at a public hearing Tuesday night.

Designated Chouteau Trace II, the new area proposed for development consists of 33 acres located east of Illinois 111 and north of East Chain of Rocks Road.

The hearing was required as a preliminary step should the village trustees agree to establish a second TIF District within its boundaries.

A hotel, commercial and retail stores, off-street parking, and public parks, along with single- and multi-family housing, are proposed for the Chouteau Trace II development, according to the proposal.

"It is a good project and is desperately needed... a chance for growth at that intersection," said developer Stan Lucas during the public comment section of the hearing.

"There is a great interest in that area and it is a mixed interest of the hearing."

Bathon runs for county auditor

Fred Bathon, Madison County chief deputy auditor and Madison city treasurer, has officially announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Madison County auditor. The current county auditor, Pete Fieles, is vacating the post next year to run for U.S. Congress.

In announcing his candidacy for county auditor on Wednesday, Bathon said, "My candidacy offers the voters of Madison County an excellent opportunity to elect a candidate who is professionally qualified and experienced in government financial management."

"As chief deputy auditor I have played a key role in the auditor's office the last eight years. During that time, I have helped install and implement new financial systems that have provided county officials with timely and accurate data to help them make important financial decisions."

"As a result, Madison County has had a balanced budget the last six years, has actually reduced taxes during that time, and is one of only six counties in Illinois which has not had to adopt a one-fourth-cent sales tax to stay afloat."

"We are, by the way, the largest county in the state that has not adopted this tax, authorized by the General Assembly to help bail counties out of serious financial difficulties."

Chancellor gives views about college BAC Board hampers funding

For a look at the BAC candidates and their views on Bruce Wissors, see Page 3B.

Incumbent college trustees failed to utilize millions of dollars of available state funds to upgrade the Granite City Campus. Instead, the money never was obtained for any education projects in this region.

The assertion was made indirectly during an exchange of questions and comments at the Granite City Rotary luncheon Tuesday. The guest speaker was Dr. Bruce Wissors, chancellor of Belleville Area College.

Wissors stayed neutral on the Nov. 3 BAC board election and on policy decisions made by the board. But members of the audience said they feel it is clear trustees blocked creating "first-class facilities" here by adopting a negative geographic attitude.

"This is your college and your district," Wissors said, adding that BAC's future actions can "Substantially reduced the college's reserve funds."

"Rejected or fumbled in making use of the kinds of state funds that have permitted building improvements at other Illinois colleges."

Wissors said there inevitably will be competition for funds between the Belleville, Granite City and Red Bud campuses, but indicated this has intensified because of souring monetary trends and Belleville's area dominance on the Board of Trustees.

Due to a new state law, a referendum may be held to establish seven subdistricts, in which each area could choose a board member; however, regular elections will be held throughout the district this year, Wissors said.

Madison Countians pay one-third of BAC's costs, he said, compared to 45 percent paid by St. Clair County and less than 20 percent by Monroe and Randolph counties.

BAC called bargain

By Bill Winter
Staff writer

Is the local college a bargain for taxpayers, providing quality education at minimum cost?

Yes, according to figures provided Tuesday by Belleville Area College Chancellor Bruce Wissors. He compared BAC, with 12,000 students and $16 million in yearly costs, to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, with 10,000 students and $57 million annual costs.

Wissors was quick to praise the caliber of SIUE, acknowledging that many of its programs understandably involve added expenditures. He said BAC serves as the largest feeder school of all those sending transfer students to SIUE, and that the two have a good relationship.

The size of BAC's Granite City Campus alone would rank ahead of five of the state's 39 community colleges, he said, adding that the college made a questionable decision in not replacing CCC President Don Kassing, who took a similar job elsewhere.

"Eighty percent of your funds come as a result of enrollment," Wissors said, stressing the importance of having, in effect, a high-ranking recruiter or "sales manager" for the area served by a college.

Asked how he would rate the three Granite Cityans who have served on the BAC board, the chancellor said Bob Harris played a key role in establishing daytime as well as night college classes in Granite City. Avery Schermer strengthened the board in setting priorities and defining board/administrative duties and roles, and Leo Konzen has been effective in lowering tension between BAC trustees.

But there is already a question whether the positions will be filled in the 1988 elections or not until 1990. The effective date of the legislation signed by Thompson is Jan. 1. The filing period for the March primary is Dec. 7-14.

"This is something our chief legal counsel will have to evaluate," said Kelvin Hudson, associate director of the State Board of Elections.

"There's no question the additional positions will exist when next November's election is held. But it's up to the Board of Elections to determine whether they can be filled then," said William Madden, deputy director of the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts.

The legislature also did not provide any specific funding for salaries of the new judges.

There are eight circuit judges in the Third Circuit, which includes Madison and Bond counties. It has one of the heaviest caseloads in the state.

The Fifth Appellate Court district, Mount Vernon, including Madison County and the southern third of the state, now will have six elected justices instead of four. A fifth, Horacio Calvo, serves by appointment of the Illinois Supreme Court.

DRIVER INJURED: The car of Danny Lee Conley, 22, St. Louis, is seen in the front yard at 1423 Madison Ave. after the vehicle went out of control at 1:28 a.m. Sunday going south on Madison Avenue. Conley was unable to make the curve at 15th Street. The car knocked down a privacy fence between the houses at 1425 and 1423 and crashed into the porch at 1423 causing an estimated $5,000 damage. He posted $305 cash bail after he was released from St. Elizabeth Medical Center on Tuesday.

Declines the Fifth

GRANITE CITY — Fourth Ward Alderman Dan Partney and two police officers declined Thursday to take the Fifth and to answer questions before the Madison County grand jury. State's Attorney Dick Allen said Friday.

Allen said the three men were brought before Associate Judge Charles Romani Jr., who told them they could take the Fifth, answer questions or go to jail. Assistant State's Attorney Rick Rybak will continue to argue the state's case when the grand jury meets again Oct. 22.

Partney declined comment Friday, but has stated he was not involved in cheating.

School Tax Levy

VENICE — An annual tax levy of $586,000 was outlined by the Board of Education Thursday night.

Final adoption will take place after a public hearing on the aggregate levy at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 18, at the board office.

"This year's rate is the second highest in Madison County," Vickers said.

Varadian's departure

GRANITE CITY — A vacancy on the City Council will occur if 5th Ward Alderman Jake Varadian moves out of the city, as he is considering.

Varadian, a teacher at Prather Elementary School, said there is a good possibility he may buy a house near Edwardsville.

"It's possible, but nothing is definite yet," Varadian said. His term ends in 1989. Varadian said he would continue teaching at Prather if he moved.

Old Newsboy volunteers target goal

By Jim Baer
Staff affiliate

St. Louis County Prosecutor George "Buzz" Westfall just might have a warrant for your arrest early on Thursday morning, Nov. 19, if you don't buy a copy of the Old Newsboys Day editions of the Suburban Journal.

Westfall and his staff will be hawking souvenir copies of the newspaper in front of the old St. Louis County courthouse at Forsyth and Central Avenue in Clayton.

Since its beginning in 1957, the Old Newsboys Day drive has raised $3.7 million for hundreds of children's charities and service organizations in the community. The goal this year is to raise more than $250,000, all of which will be distributed to more than 200 youth organizations and charities.

Nearly 10,000 volunteers are expected to take part this year. To volunteer, persons may call (314) 821-0211 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

As always, Celebrity Corner at Market and Broadway will be alive with activity. There will be live radio broadcasts from the corner, courtesy of KMOX-AM (1120). Representatives of St. Louis' baseball, football, hockey and soccer teams, along with Cardinals' mascot Fredbird and Bugs Bunny and Daffy Duck from Six Flags Over Mid-America, also will man the corner.

For the 31st consecutive year, Clarence Bohm of Edwardsville will be a few blocks away at Seventh and Olive streets, sporting buttons from all 30 previous campaigns.

Employees from S.G. Adams Printing and Stationery will hand out pens at 10th and Olive streets downtown and The Muny Student Theater Project will be manning corners at Fourth and Pine streets.

"This is a fun way to raise much-needed funds; we're glad to take part," said project participant Calbe Pearson.

But volunteers also will be hawking the newspapers on corners far afield from downtown St. Louis. For example:

•Tyrone Echols, the mayor of Venice, and his entire staff will be selling Old Newsboys editions at Broadway and Klein Street in Venice.

•Like other annual participants, Rose Manning, also known as Hapsi the Clown, will be at her usual post at Dunn and Graham roads in Florissant.

•Wally Anderson, president of the Ladue Lions Club, and the rest of his cohorts will work the intersection at Clayton Road and I-64 (Hwy. 40).

•St. Louis Alderman Albert "Red" Villa and his pals will be at Broadway and Davis in south St. Louis.

•Mary Eileen Guelker—Miss Tall St. Louis—will be at Woods Mill Road and Olive Boulevard in Chesterfield.

•Harry Gorilla's Gang will be back once more at Fifth Street and First Capital Drive in St. Charles.

•The Moolah Shrine clowns will be at Geyer and Watson roads.

•The Webster Groves Lions Club, which has raised $35,000 during drives over the years, has issued a challenge to other service organizations.

William E. Cornelius, president and chief executive officer of Union Electric Co. and general chairman of 1987 Old Newsboys Day, is heartened by the number of volunteers turning out.

Off-duty officer injured in lot

GRANITE CITY — An off-duty police officer was found bleeding from the head in the Charles Restaurant parking lot after he was hit with what appeared to be an ax handle early Sunday morning.

The officer, Patrolman Kenneth Crawford, was found lying on the ground by patrolmen who arrived on the scene about 2:19 a.m. at 3120 Nameoki Road. The man was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was treated for blows to the head and shoulder before being released Monday.

John Lakin, of Village Lane apartments, told patrolmen that the off-duty officer had attempted to arrest Manuel Foschiatti, 23, of 2815 E. 25th St., after Foschiatti allegedly pushed a member of the band in the south parking lot of the restaurant and lounge. Foschiatti was later arrested at his home and charged with aggravated battery, and resisting arrest.

A police report said the incident began after Foschiatti's pickup truck allegedly bumped into the van of band member Chris Vaughn, 2023 Johnson Road, Apt. A.

Foschiatti then allegedly approached Vaughn, who had been sitting in the van when it was hit, and pushed him. The officer had then gotten between the two and attempted to break them up.

When Foschiatti allegedly began to fight the officer, the officer identified himself and told Foschiatti he was under arrest. Foschiatti then got away, grabbed what appeared to be an ax handle from his truck and allegedly struck the officer; Foschiatti then fled.

After his arrest, Foschiatti complained of pains to his leg, abdomen and head. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at about 2:22 a.m. Monday and was returned to the police station at about noon.

Guilty plea nets 15-year term

In a case linked with Madison County labor strife, Clinton Bramlett, charged with murder in the 1983 shooting of Billy Bell, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of voluntary manslaughter Oct. 8 in Macoupin County Circuit Court.

Judge Joseph Koval sentenced Bramlett to 15 years in prison with credit for 295 days while awaiting trial. The term is concurrent with a 45-year federal prison term Bramlett is serving for bank robbery.

Defense attorney John Madden of Gillespie said Bramlett could be free in seven years if he gains parole on both charges. He said many things went into the bargaining, but the idea of no additional time was compelling. "The type of crime committed in this case could have allowed the state to ask for the death penalty," Madden said.

Bramlett, 49, admitted killing Bell, who was found shot three times in the head and twice in the chest in June 1983. He was apparently ambushed on a country road near his home in Polk Township, southwest of Carlinville. Macoupin County State's Attorney Edmond Rees called the slaying a revenge killing, stemming from labor union difficulties.

Rees said Bell, a member of Plumbers and Pipefitters Union Local 553, had allegedly been involved in beating Bramlett, a member of the Operating Engineers, but was never prosecuted. Larry Hinson, a pipefitter in Rosewood Heights, was convicted in the 1976 beating.

"It was a complicated case with a lot of evidence," said Rees.

"My case was circumstantial. The defense had two people in Tennessee who testified Bramlett was down there at the time of the murder. We felt that would create some doubt in the minds of the jury."

Rees said Bramlett's alibi came from a retired minister and his wife. "We feel they are mistaken, but they have testified under oath. They would have been a real problem."

BPW hears business conduct talk

The Granite City Business and Professional Women held its monthly meeting Sept. 16 at Charlie's Restaurant.

The meeting was called to order by President Rosalie Stern.

Following dinner, Jane Isenbueh, program chairman, introduced Joy McClard, speaker and member of the Granite City BPW, who spoke to the organization on "Business Etiquette."

McClard is a 27-year employee of Illinois Bell Telephone Co. She is an outside plant engineer in Alton and responsible for long-range planning in the Granite City, East St. Louis and O'Fallon areas. She is married to Daryl McClard, comptroller of Central Bank in Granite City, and has one son, Steve. The McClards are natives of central Illinois, but have lived in Edwardsville since 1969.

McClard was trained within Illinois Bell through their Management Development Center. She has supervised both craft and management people during her career at Illinois Bell. She has always been particularly interested in advancing women in their careers.

McClard spoke to the group on how to be a good manager, including how to dress for the job, how to introduce people properly, how the female executive should conduct herself and how the telephone should be answered by the executive and her staff.

Anyone interested in more information on this topic can read "Complete Guide to Executive Manners" by Letitia Baldridge.

Prior to the start of the meeting, a workshop was given by Leisure World Health Club of Collinsville.

A short business session followed.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Sometimes people fall behind on their mortgage payments and their car payments due to financial difficulties. Frequently individuals in this situation consider filing a Chapter 7 straight bankruptcy or a Chapter 13 wage earner plan. This question often arises as to which of these alternatives would be most desirable for people in these circumstances. The answer to this question frequently depends upon whether the debtors wish to keep their house and car and whether they can bring the back payments current immediately.

Let's assume that a man and wife are three months behind on their mortgage payments and two months delinquent on their car loan. The bank is threatening to foreclose on the house and the credit union is ready to repossess the car. The husband is drawing unemployment, and the wife is making approximately $200 per week. The couple has two children, and the prospects of the man obtaining work in the near future are not good.

Is bankruptcy a viable alternative for these people, and if so, would a Chapter 7 or a Chapter 13 better serve their needs? Either a straight bankruptcy or a wage earner plan would stop the creditors from harassing these people. In addition, either alternative would stop all attempts to foreclose on the mortgage and also preclude the creditor from repossessing the car. Therefore, bankruptcy could provide welcome debt relief for this beleaguered couple.

If the couple filed a Chapter 7 straight bankruptcy, they would probably have to come up with the back payments immediately on the house and car if they wished to retain possession of them. If they were willing to abandon the house and car, they could surrender these assets and wipe out the total amount of the car note and mortgage.

If the couple wished to keep the house and car, a Chapter 13 wage earner plan would allow them to pay the back payments over a three to five year period of time. This alternative would avoid the necessity of coming up with all of the back payments immediately in order to keep these assets.

It is important to note that often a debtor who files bankruptcy will be unable to obtain credit for a period of time. Therefore, the individual may want to consider keeping his house and car since he might not be able to obtain financing to buy another home or automobile.

Local woman to perform in music contest

GRANITE CITY — Local singer Joyce Hand will perform at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Alton Holiday Inn as part of the Mr. and Ms. Country Music America contest.

Hand, daughter of former Granite City Mayor Charles W. Moerlen, will perform the song "Today I Started Loving You Again" to a recorded sound track.

Local Ms. Country Music America talent contests are being held weekly during September and October. Local weekly winners will receive $100 cash. A local grand prize winner will get $200 and go on to compete in the state finals.

State winners will compete in the national finals to be held in November on the stage of the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville. Country singers Tammy Wynette and John Schneider will serve as hosts for the national finals.

National winners will receive $10,000, a recording contract, a guest appearance on the syndicated television series "Haw," a feature story in Music City News, management and booking contracts and a national tour including the top 10 country music clubs in the nation.

Contestants will be judged on singing ability and audience appeal.

Hand is asking her family and friends to attend Sunday's performance.

Hand, 50, began her musical career at the age of six when she started playing the piano. Since then she has learned to play several instruments.

Hand also composes music and several of her songs have been recorded and published.

Something . . . they don't learn in school!

We are proud to have the opportunity to provide young boys and girls with the responsibility of delivering our newspaper. Responsibility and financial management are two basics that are on the job training when a boy or girl accepts a newspaper delivery route. The responsibility is great because the entire effort of every talented person depends on their delivery of the newspaper on time no matter what weather conditions or other circumstances arise. Being an independent merchant he or she is responsible financially for the payment and collection of monies for newspapers delivered. We recognize the responsibilities both financial and job performance and we would like to congratulate the girls and boys who value this experience and do an excellent job of satisfying our customers.

Matthew 7:7 "Ask, and it shall be given you."

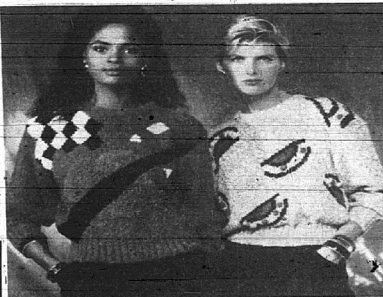

God is only a prayer away. When we have a need all we have to do is pray. God hears and answers prayer. Bear in mind that God wants to help you. It is His good pleasure to give unto you His kingdom.

Never allow yourself to believe your prayers aren't important. God is a God of love. He cares and He understands. We can find help in time to need if we will only pray.

Let us have faith when we ask. He knows the things we have need of. Trust God with your life. He can do much better with it than we can.

Convince yourself that God's answer is wiser than our prayers. Because He is giving what is best for you.

Editorials

Don't be merciful to the incumbents

Show no mercy to School District 9's incumbent candidates. As they ignore you, ignore their pleas for your votes.

How did they ignore you? Let's recount the ways:

There are four School Board seats up, not five, because voters were cheated out of a fifth choice.

School Board member Alan Crider resigned at just the right time for Ranney Rich to take over without filing for election. You could have voted for Crider's replacement, but the board tax dollars to educate your children.

Those politicians who maintain power by doing out "political" jobs, wanted Redmond to shut his mouth. They wanted the newspaper to stop writing what Redmond had to say.

When the newspaper wouldn't stop writing, Kelly Hogan, Monroe Worthen, Jerry McKechnan and Alan Crider voted to exclude the newspaper from executive sessions.

But the newspaper continued to write, and it documented the support of more than 150 persons who attended a tea that turned into a rally for Redmond.

"We love you Dr. Max," a poster at the rally proudly declared. And in the looks of those who shook his hand that day, the affection for Redmond was clear.

But the board ignored you, the taxpayers and voters who wanted Redmond to stay and continue his work to redeem the school district from politicians. Redmond was forced out.

In bidding farewell to Redmond and his standard of "Students before Politics," the newspaper editorialized: "But be consoled that your stay was not so brief as to be meaningless. What you have started may be hindered by your absence, but not halted."

Too many persons have seen the standard.

"They shall not forget it."

"They shall not be satisfied until it is raised to a position where it can never again be brought down."

Redmond was pushed out more than a year ago. The board chose to ignore you and you could only stand by and lament.

Until now.

The incumbents stand, hats in hand, asking for votes. Your votes. They want the votes of people they ignored.

Macios, who didn't get the ballots right and who is running with Hogan.

Hogan, who voted to exclude the newspaper from executive meetings and helped to oust Redmond.

All of the incumbents voted to replace Crider with Rich, and to give Crider a job in District 9.

And now they're knocking on your doors.

They're shaking your hands. They want your votes.

On Nov. 3, tell them no.

Kelly Hogan, Incumbent, 4 years deprived you of that choice and, true to the philosophy of patronage, they followed up by giving Crider a job as a teacher.

Among those who voted to ignore you — to give Crider a job and Rich a board seat — was Jo Ann Macios.

As board secretary, Macios said she accidentally made an error in her own favor when she certified ballots for this election.

Macios put her political ally, Kelly Hogan, first on the ballot and herself second.

Because of her error, the ballots had to be reprinted and the names put in their proper order. And you, as taxpayers, will foot the bill for her mistake.

But taxpayers don't mean much to these School Board members. The board has proven its disregard for the public by practicing patronage and nepotism, practices former Superintendent Dr. Max Redmond challenged.

That's why Redmond is a "former" superintendent.

Redmond excited teachers and the public. You considered him to be honest and progressive. He would not compromise his belief that only the most qualified people should be hired with your tax dollars to educate your children.

Those politicians who maintain power by doing out "political" jobs, wanted Redmond to shut his mouth. They wanted the newspaper to stop writing what Redmond had to say.

When the newspaper wouldn't stop writing, Kelly Hogan, Monroe Worthen, Jerry McKechnan and Alan Crider voted to exclude the newspaper from executive sessions.

Bowler, Johnson, Koberna Holt-Wilkerson for board

Among several good candidates seeking election to the District 9 Board of Education, voters can choose four. We urge you to select Paul Bowler and Roy Koberna, and as rural candidates, Mack Johnson and Debbie Holt-Wilkerson.

Paul Ray Bowler, Endorsed

Roy Koberna, Endorsed

On the critical issues, each has stated opposition to patronage and nepotism in district hirings, and each would abstain from voting if a friend or relative came before the board to seek a job. For these reasons alone, these four persons deserve to be elected, but each offers more.

PAUL BOWLER, 35, of Granite City, is an outstanding choice. He understands this community's economic needs and does more than talk about it. During his eight years as an alderman, he attracted five new businesses to our area. That's the kind of "can-do" attitude and proven ability that should be put to work in District 9.

Bowler will bring expertise in education to the board. He holds a master's degree in educational administration, and a bachelor's degree in sociology and social welfare. He's a member of Kappa Delta Pi national honor society in education. As a School Board member, we expect Bowler to be a powerful force for the betterment of our educational system.

ROY KOBERNA, 43, of Granite City, knows this city's youth as few do. A police sergeant, Koberna is a former juvenile and truant officer, and he designed and implemented the Officer Friendly Program for District 9 schools.

Koberna is honest and open. He wants to help the youth in this district by making sure the rules are followed with a sense of compassion. As a School Board member, he'll work to initiate and revise policies to meet his goal — and that's the kind of thinking parents of children in this district favor.

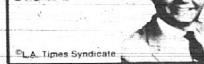

MACK JOHNSON, 39, has already shown how much he cares about education in District 9. In 1984, as an independent interested only in quality education, Johnson chaired the successful District 9 bond issue drive to keep our school system out of debt. He did it for one reason, a reason unfamiliar to many who seek public office — He did it because it was the right thing to do.

While holding no office, Johnson showed what he could do for education in the public's service. When he's elected as a rural candidate, he'll be in position to do much more.

DEBBIE HOLT-WILKERSON, 34, seeks a two-year term and will be the second member from a rural area on the board. As a former District 9 teacher now working as a school nurse in Edwardsville, she will bring the practical experience of an educator to the board.

Her intention is to rebuild a positive image for the school district, her positive attitude will be the catalyst to make it happen.

Fear replaces fun of flying

When I hear of a near-miss between two aircraft, I remember that we used to look where we were going. Today a needle on a dial or a voice on the radio directs your every move. I was reminded of this when I heard from the new top gun at the Federal Aviation Administration, Allan McArdor.

McArdor says airline pilots should get back to basics. He says we have been blaming an air traffic system that is, indeed, busy — but the system is not unsafe.

He says what's unsafe is pilots landing on the wrong runway, landing at the wrong airport, taxiing across runways without clearance, turning left instead of turning right, dialing in wrong way-points in a navigational computer. And, of all things, shutting down engines in flight.

Now, the manner in which I have quoted the new FAA administrator suggests, an unbecoming "hit-and-run" by both him and me.

While his admonition is valid, it leaves the lopsided impression that all airline pilots have become careless.

They have not.

The command seat jet-jockey on one of today's superlanes is himself a superman.

And he hasn't lived long enough to get an Air Traffic Control rating by being careless.

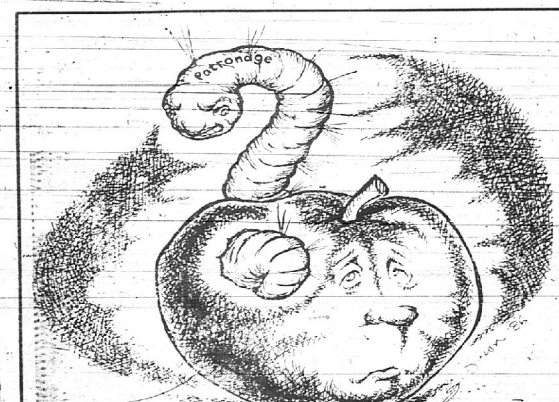

That sounds like a rash of recent mistakes by Delta pilots, for example, is more a "media event" than anything else.

Some guys goofed. All fumbles were recovered. That's one of the reasons we have a backup man on the flight deck.

But the flying public, distressed with flight delays and airport inconvenience, is eager to stick pins in somebody, and the media responding to that impulse have made pilots the present target.

I have landed on a wrong runway myself, every pilot who flies long enough will.

I'm glad for the administrator's remonstrance to keep us alert, but neither he nor I would want this public airing of a cockpit problem to imply anything more than it is: the kind of a top-sergeant talking to we all need once in a while.

Will Cardinals take pennant?

With the St. Louis Cardinals in a must-win situation both Tuesday and Wednesday, the sixth and seventh games of the National League Championship Series, do you think the Redbirds can come back and beat the Giants to win the pennant?

Steve Basarich, Granite City

"I think they might win tonight, but I'll lose tomorrow night. The Giants are tough and have too many power hitters. I think (Jack) Clark would have made the difference in the outcome of the series."

Bob Knuckles, Granite City

"I kinda think the Giants will win. They (Cardinals) just ain't having a good post season. The only hitter they have is on the sick list. I look for the Giants to win."

Marvin Heberlein, Granite City

"I think it's all rigged. They want it to go all seven games. I think they'll (Cardinals) take the last two games."

Bruce Trotts

Bruce E. Trotts, 38, of 805 Greenwood St., is retired on disability as a deputy sheriff and is a Madison Police Commissioner. A 1967 graduate of Madison High School, he holds a B.S. degree in Secondary Education and a B.A. degree in the Administration of Criminal Justice.

On closing Louis Baer School, Trotts said it's worth considering if it would benefit students. If closed, the fifth- and sixth-grade students should be sent Middle School and fourth graders should go to Harris School.

To deal with the loss of $109,000 in state aid, he suggests applying for grants and holding the line against spending.

He said the district's strengths are its solid fiscal base and buildings that are in good repair, and the district should "strive to improve the educational development of the students."

The district's weaknesses is a dwindling tax base and decreasing enrollment.

Bruce Trotts
Chairman

Edmund Warchol

Edmund E. Warchol, 63, of 908 Washington Ave., is retired as a seeking reelection for a four year term. He currently is secretary for the Board of Education.

He is treasurer for both the Madison Lion's Club and St. Mary's Boosters, serves as a committee member for St. Mary's Credit Union, is an associate member of Amvets Post 204, and a member of VFW Post 7451 and Madison City Organization.

Warchol and his wife, Catherine, are the parents of a son, Ronald Warchol.

Concerning Louis Baer School, Warchol suggested a study to determine if it should be closed. He said student placement should "be made in the best interest of the children."

To combat the drop in state aid, he suggested the district "make the dollars stretch" and "cut unnecessary spending."

The school district's strengths are financial stability; qualified administrators, teachers and support staff who work together with the board and community; and programs to review curriculum and develop staff.

A district weakness is caused by the shortfall of state funds. Warchol urges citizens to contact legislators to restore the funds.

Rev. Wilbur Owens

The Rev. Wilbur Owens, 45, of 1001 Allen St., is employed as a mechanical technician and is an ordained minister pastoring at Mount Nebo Baptist Church.

He served with the U.S. Army Air Force and has worked for the Philadelphia School District as a machine repairman, at Granite City Steel, and now works at Consolidated Aluminum Corp.

He and his wife Rosetta are the parents of a son, William, 22, and a daughter, Kimberly, who is 19.

Closing Louis Baer School shouldn't be done unless the reasons and advantages of closing the building are first defined. If the school closes, Middle School and Harris School could be used to educate Louis Baer students.

To deal with the $110,000 loss in state aid, he suggests looking at how to trim the budget, "particularly in the line of capital expenditures, or new equipment purchases."

The district's strengths include its stable tax base; an anti-drug program; extra-curricular activities; and an "outstanding Parents Club."

The district is weak in participation by parents in school programs and a lack of intra-mural sports for young children.

William Weidner

William W. Weidner, 32, of 1611 Third St., is a security representative at McDonnell-Douglas Corp., and is a former Madison police officer.

A Madison High School graduate he graduated in 1980 from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville with degrees in Human Services and Government.

A former teacher and substitute in the Madison School District, Weidner still retains a substitute teacher certificate.

He and his wife, Jeanne, are the parents of a 17 year old daughter, DeAnn.

Owens would oppose closing Louis Baer School because it would not guarantee "education in an environment conducive to the students' peer group" and would not control "potentially hazardous situations for students ill-equipped in skills to handle peer pressure."

If the school closes, he said he would make sure "students are housed in an environment which will safeguard their exposure to uncompromising situations."

To deal with the loss of $110,000 in state funds, he said he would have to "examine facts revealing the district's debts and assets."

The district's strengths, he said, are its policies, qualified personnel, implementation of the Chapter I program, working relationship with other school districts, special education and athletic programs, and delivering education in a cost efficient manner without compromising quality and safety.

To solve district problems, he suggests parents should pick up their children's report cards, conduct a feasibility study to determine what vocational programs to offer, more counseling to let students know their academic capabilities, hold more parent-teacher conferences, expand the high school curriculum to include vocational training, and adopt a policy on all infectious diseases.

Candidates talk issues

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

Eleven candidates have filed to fill four seats in the Belleville Area College Board of Trustees race.

The candidates are vying for three six-year terms and one two-year term on the seven-member board.

Two board members, Leo Konzen, of Granite City, and Wayne Reynolds, board president from Belleville, will not seek reelection. Incumbents Frances Braswell and Elizabeth Jenner seek reelection to six-year terms.

Student trustee Susanne Briggs is seeking a seat.

A projected $1 million BAC deficit, a new way of electing board members, and the administration of BAC Chancellor Bruce Wissore are key issues in the Nov. 3 election.

Below are positions on the issues taken by most of the candidates. The views are based on responses to a questionnaire.

BAC election system

A new law was recently signed by the governor that may change the way BAC board members are elected. The law gives BAC District voters an opportunity to replace the existing at-large election system. Voters can, by referendum, change the system to elect members from subdivided districts.

A majority of the candidates support a subdivided system.

Avery Schermer, a board candidate from Granite City, helped the sponsor of the election bill, Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, get the law through the Legislature.

Schermer, a former board member, has said he thinks election by subdistricts instead of at-large elections could give better board representation to voters outside the Belleville area, a city that has the eight county district's largest population concentration.

One complaint of Schermer's is that most board members are from Belleville yet Belleville pays less than half of the taxes that support the college. He said the at-large elections are largely responsible for the imbalance.

Schermer is part of a four-person slate called Project Excel that is comprised of Cahokia teacher Robert Eden, Belleville elementary school administrator Catherine Bennett and Belleville accountant Wyatt Rawlings III. Each strongly supports election by subdistricts.

"The interests and concerns of students and taxpayers from the various election districts should be represented on the Board of Trustees," read a joint statement by Project Excel members on the election issue.

Candidates Ted Farmer, a Belleville insurance broker, and Shirley Highlander, a Collinsville teacher, also strongly supported changing the election system.

Candidates Braswell and Briggs, both of Belleville, did not specifically say they favor a change in the election system, but indicated a need for a diverse group to be represented on the board.

Jenner is the only candidate who clearly opposes an election change, with another candidate, Dan Wolford, of Belleville, expressing "reservations" about a change.

Such a change "would result in factionalism and divisiveness" on the board, Jenner said.

The deficit

Wissore has projected the college will be in the red $1 million next year. The projection also anticipates the college will have no contingency fund, as it has in past years.

Concern about the district's finances was expressed by all candidates, though some candidates offered on ways to resolve it.

One group of candidates puts a priority on cutting programs and administrative costs. The other advocates a long-term program to increase the college's enrollment, thereby increasing revenues.

Jenner, Braswell, Farmer and Wolford said they thought the college was top-heavy with administrators and cuts would be needed. All said they did not necessarily believe Wissore's deficit calculations, but said if the figures are true, the college should cut the number of administrators and either cut or combine some programs, which they did not identify.

Project Excel candidates believe the college should set a spending ceiling and stick to it, but should also "market" the college better with appealing and convenient programs, which they said would increase enrollment.

Like all the candidates, Highlander wants the budget balanced, but wants board members to be more cooperative in making decisions.

Briggs said she thought the long-term financial health of the district depends on increased enrollments and said the college should begin an aggressive incentive program to entice first-time students.

BAC candidates discuss Wissore

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

Some BAC Board of Trustees candidates are campaigning on a platform to fire BAC Chancellor Bruce Wissore.

Wissore's critics take him to task for his administrative style, his support of a district tax increase that lost, and his attendance in law school classes, among other issues.

Incumbents Elizabeth Jenner and Frances Braswell have called for Wissore's resignation on numerous occasions and candidate Ted Farmer has often blamed Wissore for some of the college's problems.

Wissore has countered that Jenner, Braswell and Farmer are not necessarily motivated to solve the college's difficulties as much as they are driven to oust him.

Other BAC candidates are also critical of Wissore, but would not ask him to resign upon their elections, as Farmer and Braswell would.

Two candidates withheld judgment on Wissore. Following are some candidates' opinions of Wissore's leadership.

Wissore has failed consistently to present his proposals in such a way that the public can have confidence in his decisions. I feel that an administration is imperative," said Farmer.

He did not cite a specific problem entirely created by Wissore, but Farmer said Wissore's record "adds up to an insurmountable public relations gaffe."

Braswell criticized Wissore for attending law school. She said many of her constituents think Wissore should give full attention to BAC. But Braswell did not lay blame entirely on Wissore for the 1985 tax referendum failure. She said other trustees supported it.

Braswell also cited a report by the North Central Association that she said indicated a lack of communication between Wissore and the board and Wissore's faculty.

"We have only one-way communications. Wissore's way," said Braswell, who called information provided by Wissore "fuzzy."

Jenner was especially critical of Wissore for influencing the outcome of the 1985 tax referendum, being cited for contempt of court for doing so and stating what she considered to be too many outside consultants.

Candidate Daniel Worford offered similar views.

On the question of Wissore, Project Excel, a slate of BAC candidates, holds the position that Wissore's leadership should be questioned, especially as it relates to the projected $1 million deficit.

Excel candidates Avery Schermer, Robert Eden, Wyatt Rawlings III and Catherine Bennett, in a joint statement, criticized Wissore for moving his office to BAC's Granite City

Campus, for attending law school and for failing to obey a court order to stop promoting the 1985 tax measure.

But Excel members noted that, if elected, they would try to determine if the college's more serious problems should be laid at Wissore's feet before deciding whether Wissore should be asked to resign.

"It is difficult to determine if the current Board of Trustees or Wissore's leadership is responsible for the mayhem. Project Excel candidates are determined to make unbiased decisions based on facts, not personalities," according to Excel candidates.

Candidates Stephen Traut and Shirley Highlander took the view that many of the college's problems are a result of a lack of cooperation between Wissore and the board and between board members themselves.

"The present administration can be credited with no more or less than what its trustees have allowed it to accomplish. The present personality conflicts overshadow any educational achievements. Any decision to replace the present administration would be made only after extensive study. I do not have an axe to grind," said Highlander.

Many in region urge override of vetoes

A fourth term would not seem a time of particular excitement for a governor, but James R. Thompson of Illinois is not exactly dozing in his executive chair.

After a busy time of signing and vetoing legislation, it was off to Europe on a whirlwind trade mission. Now he is being targeted for possible legislative overrides and has become the subject of debate over a possible U.S. Supreme Court appointment.

After it became clear that the U.S. Senate would block Judge Robert H. Bork from joining the nation's highest court, "trial balloons" began ascending to determine reactions to 10 potential nominees.

The list included three Illinoisans: Thompson, former U.S. attorney for the Northern District of Illinois, as well as two Chicago-area federal appellate judges, Richard A. Posner and Frank H. Easterbrook. Thompson was among those who testified on behalf of Bork.

The entire Metro East region will be paying attention when Illinois lawmakers assemble at Springfield to accept or reject Thompson's 1987 veto messages. The fall session is getting under way and key decisions are expected to be made starting Oct. 20.

In response to senators and representatives turning deaf ears to his pleas for a tax increase, the governor trimmed $300 million from the Assembly-approved

Regional Roundup

By Bill Winter

Senate President Philip Rock on Oct. 8 said he will try to restore at least $19 million, including day care, computerized accounting, Alzheimer disease and kidney dialysis programs.

Two Chicago-area legislators said they will introduce a tax increase plan to bolster school finances after the longest teacher strike in that city's history. Sen. Emil Jones of Chicago wants to change the personal income tax from 2 1/2 to 4 percent and the corporate income tax from 4 to 5 percent.

Thompson, Rock and other leaders say they see virtually no chance for a tax change during the fall session, but some relief for Illinois public schools will be sought vigorously by the various education organizations.

In addition, more college funding will be high on the agenda; otherwise, Southern Illinois University will increase its tuition by 18 percent at mid-term and other colleges and universities will proceed with roughly similar increases.

Among those helping to chart the state's monetary course is State Rep. Sam W. Wolf of Granite City.

Once school board and college trustee elections have been conducted Nov. 3, competition will begin almost immediately for party nominations in the March 1988 primary.

Citizens for Sam Wolf have chosen Nov. 17 for a testimonial breakfast in his honor. He has a lot of friends and, at $50 a plate, considerable funds may be generated for his re-election campaign.

Wolf is active in the Illinois House of Representatives, serving as chairman of Personnel and Pensions; vice chairman of Election Law; co-chairman of the Legislative Research Unit; and member of four other committees, Transportation, Small Business, Horse Racing and Financial Institutions.

Among the financial institutions Wolf helps regulate are the Eagle banks, members of a bank holding company based in Highland. That chain is being acquired for more than $18 million by St. Louis' Landmark Bancshares, chaired by S. Lee Kling. Not yet completed, the consolidation was disclosed Oct. 1.

It will be recalled that two Granite City banks merged Aug. 31 into Belleville's Magna Group Inc., led by William Badgley.

In addition to the Madison bank and a planned Pontoon Beach bank, the Quad City area also includes banks that are a part of the Central Banc System based in Granite City and headed by Drew Karandjoff.

Drew's grandfather, the late Henry D. Karandjoff, comes to mind every time I think of apples. He literally recommended an apple a day to keep the doctor away, and proved the logic by eating many apples and living well into his 90s.

As all historians know — at least, all apple historians — Henry shared that interest with Adam and Eve, William Tell, Sir Isaac Newton, New York City and the Beatles.

We are indebted to, of all publications, Philip Morris Magazine, for these additional apple tidbits:

* Apples were brought to the United States in 1629 by Massachusetts Governor John Winthrop.

* Last year, almost eight billion pounds of apples were grown in the U.S., including quite a few in Metro East.

* Apples are high in fiber, which is good, low in cholesterol, also good, and low in sodium, triply good from a health standpoint.

* There are more than 500 named apple varieties in the U.S.

* One of the nation's first golf courses was created in a three-acre apple orchard in Yonkers, N.Y.

* And, to end on a sweet note, the 1987 Guinness Book of World Records says an apple weighing 2 pounds was grown in England in 1965.

Court upholds automatic driver license suspension

SPRINGFIELD — Secretary of State Jim Edgar on Oct. 5 hailed Illinois Supreme Court decisions upholding swift and certain suspension of driver licenses in drunk driving cases.

"These decisions represent a landmark victory for highway safety in Illinois. The court's approval of summary suspension will help us save countless lives by keeping deadly drivers off the road," Edgar said.

The justices gave their blessings to a 1986 law that was proposed by Edgar and provides for automatic suspension in cases where a drunk driving suspect refuses to take an alcohol test or flunks it.

Unless a judge finds a technical flaw in the arrest procedure, first-time offenders quickly lose their driving privileges for six months if they refuse to take a test and for three months if they fail it.

importance of reinstating the fund.

Farmer said he did not consider creating the fund a priority, especially in the short time, though he said money should be available for emergencies.

Wolff said he is more concerned with a possible deficit than creating a surplus fund. Jenner and Braswell said the $2 million contingency fund was excessive and unpopular with taxpayers.

Project Executives candidates advocate re-establishing a reserve to fund unknown expenses and emergencies as many businesses do.

The candidates said the fund would accumulate interest and encourage savings when budgets are planned.

Highlander supports a yearly budget surplus but does not think "contingency" is the proper word for such a fund. She prefers to call it a surplus, "fund balance" which, she said, should be a standard budgeting practice for schools.

Highlander said that counting on a fund balance is better than risking having to use tax anticipation warrants, which would end up costing taxpayers. Being wants to re-establish, though gradually, a surplus account.

Granite City Campus

BAC's Granite City Campus has been cited as having an excellent growth potential, but enrollment has recently declined at the campus.

Its proximity to Interstate 270 and St. Louis underscores the potential.

Eden, Schermer, Bennett and Rawlings said that GCC's convenient location ideally fits into their overall marketing strategy. They said they would begin an advertising and mass-media blitz to draw students to the campus from the greater St. Louis area, competing with St. Louis Community College.

Jenner called proximity to I-270 "incidental" and said that making GCC a "full-service" college, especially in the occupational fields, would attract students on its own. Braswell, Wolff and Farmer offered similar views.

Highlander wants to change BAC's name. She advocated doing away with cities being attached to campus names, such as with Granite City, Red Bud and Belleville.

Highlander compared BAC with other community colleges with several campuses, such as Lewis and Clark College, that do not have names associated with their locations. She said this approach would make BAC more identifiable to all the district's residents and would eventually foster an increased enrollment. She said she did not think more should be done to advertise to college.

Quick start puts Cadets in tournament final

By Carl Jacobs
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The McCluer North Stars were edgy going into the soccer match Tuesday against the CBC Cadets, and it cost the Stars.

CBC's Doug Kriska goal in the first 20 seconds it was all it took as the Cadets coasted to a 3-0 triumph in the semifinal match of the Granite City Tournament of Champions.

The 30th win of coach Terry Michler's career put the Cadets in the tournament final. CBC will play the winner of Friday's semifinal match between Aquinas-Mercy and Vianney.

Michler downplayed the importance of his 30th victory. "That and a quarter will get you a phone call," Michler said.

The Stars were awed by the Cadets, a team with a winning soccer tradition.

"I could see our team was too nervous about playing CBC and I knew that would hurt us," said McCluer North coach Ray Stahl.

"There are a tough team and you have to respect them, but we were uptight about wanting to play a perfect game to have to beat them. I tried to stress to the kids that CBC is human but they walked in and scored that first goal."

CBC opened with its offensive machine in high gear. Kriska's right-foot tap over Star goalie Kevin Gaylord put the Cadets ahead at the 16:42 mark of the first period.

"A quick goal is great," Michler said. "We take pride in getting the kids mentally and physically ready to get the first goal. When we do, we win something like 90 percent of our games so it's important to us."

Stahl was less enthused. "I could say a lot of things about that goal but they would be unprintable," Stahl said. "We just watched them take it to us."

CBC controlled first-quarter play, giving McCluer had just two shots — cream puffs. The Cadets responded after both by quickly moved the ball out of their zone and attacking.

"Our game plan is to have every player doing one thing at a time," Michler said. "If we are on defense I want everybody playing defense, even the forwards. If we're on offense, I want everybody on the attack. This way there are no gaping holes between players and we can move the ball up quickly."

Bryan McEvoy and Scott McDaniel both had chances to put CBC up by two tallies. McEvoy's low shot was stopped by Gaylord. Two minutes later, McDaniel shot at the upper-right corner sailed wide of the net.

After four more Cadet chances, Rich Muth took advantage of a near open-net opportunity. CBC attacked down the right side of the field with Brian Hennessy crossing the ball. McEvoy's head ball was stopped by Gaylord but the rebound deflected to Muth who pounded the ball into the net before Gaylord recovered.

A good defensive play by CBC defender Ron Branstetter kept the Stars off the board in the second quarter.

Matt Everding of McCluer North controlled a pass 10 yards outside of the CBC's penalty area. He cut ran a defender and was in on the goalie when Branstetter moved over and busted the ball off his foot.

It was the best chance the Stars would get in the first half as CBC held on to their 2-0 lead.

In the third quarter, CBC had a variety of scoring chances, but McCluer North had the two best opportunities.

With McCluer North on the attack, Kevin Jennings' long shot fooled CBC goalie Mark Dulle. The ball was sailing high but knuckled and Dulle had to dive to kick it away. CBC momentarily cleared the ball but the Stars came charging back. A pass put Scott Kicely just inside the penalty area. He let go a hard, low shot that sailed wide.

HEADS UP: Rich Muth (16), right, of CBC jumps to head the ball but Tomm Britt (9) of McCluer North, goes a little higher to get the advantage. The game was a semifinal match in the Granite City Tournament of Champions.

"We played like we're capable of in the second half," Stahl said. "But you can't play a bad first half against CBC and still win."

Five minutes into the fourth quarter, the Cadets scored their final goal. Crisp passing between McDaniel and McEvoy put McEvoy behind the Star defense. He moved to the goal and crossed to freshman Bill Baunhoff, who deflected the ball into the net.

pickoffs on the year, including two thefts against Red Bud for 70 yards last week. The state record for most interceptions in a season is 13.

But coach Smith is not expecting Freeburg to go airborne much Friday.

"They're hard hitters, but they're slow," Smith said. "They like to run the ball on offense. They've got some big backs, so they like to take it to you inside."

"They also play a wide defense. They like to keep faster teams inside by stringing things out on offense. What we want to do is make them tighten up their defense, and then we'll go out side on them."

Smith said the Trojans outlook on the game is clear.

"We know what we've got to do," Smith said. "We've got a tough last three weeks ahead of us, and we've got to take it one week at a time."

Trojans hope to keep offense rolling

By Gary King
Correspondent

MADISON — The situation is serious. The Madison Trojans can no longer be underrated, overlooked, by-passed, detoured, blown off or ignored.

The green machine has established a full head of steam, and unless an equal or opposite force manages to derail the Trojans sometime soon, it doesn't take an Einstein to realize Madison may just bully their way straight into an Illinois Class 2A playoff berth.

The Freeburg Middlets will have the unenviable chore of lassoing the green machine's momentum Friday when Madison travels to Freeburg for a 7:30 p.m. non-conference tilt.

Freeburg will enter the game with a 3-3 record, including a 3-2 smashing of Dupu last Friday. Madison will carry a four-game winning streak and a 5-1 overall record into the contest.

Last week, the Trojans trounced undefeated Red Bud, 21-0.

And when Madison thinks of Freeburg, they will undoubtedly be thinking of revenge.

Last year the Middlets came to Sam Dymas Field, caught the Trojans in the midst of trouble and left town with a 55-0 win.

Trojan coach Don Smith hasn't forgotten that rainy Friday night.

"They caught us down last year," Smith said. "We had just lost three starters to indigibility that week, and we just weren't really ready for them. We'll be ready Friday."

If Freeburg is to be equally prepared, they will have to find a way to stop the Trojan offensive scheme, which consists of a potent ground attack and a passing game that can't be ignored.

Ian Smith and Ricky Ball have accounted for the bulk of Madison's ground load. Last week, Smith rushed for 90 yards while Ball chewed up 84 in the win over Red Bud.

But the emergence of junior Craig Ingram and senior Stephen Boyd in the backfield has given Smith a broader base to annoy opposing defenses with.

"Ingram's really coming around. He broke some bones in his hand against Columbia earlier this year, but he's back at full speed now," Smith said.

Smith said Boyd played like a "possessed" man in the win over Red Bud. Boyd set the tempo for the win over the Musketeers by returning the opening kickoff 75 yards for a touchdown. He also teamed with defensive tackle Vincent Valentine to record the most tackles on defense.

"That was by far Boyd's best game of the year," Smith said. "He's a hard hitter. When those Red Bud backs came through the line, they knew they had met someone."

"With Boyd and Ian Smith back there in the same backfield, Red Bud didn't know who to look at. They can't double team both of them."

The Trojan offense will also be aided by quarterback Quincy Williams' return to full form. Williams broke two of the fingers on his passing hand in the win over Dupu, but Smith said he's back.

In Williams' absence, freshman Federico Walker played a near perfect game at defensive end and purchased himself a one-way ticket to more playing time this season.

Fredrico played a really good game for us," Smith said. "He's only a freshman, but he's a big kid. He might not start this week, but he'll see some playing time."

Should Freeburg decide to put the football in the air Friday, they may aid Ian Smith's cause to become the state interception record holder. Smith has nine empty net.

Granite City was not without its chances. Before he was ejected, Bufo had a chance to score in the first half. Bufo's low shot from inside the penalty area was deflected on a diving stop. In the second half, Chad Nichols collided with the goalie while attempting to head the ball. The ball bounced to a Star, but the referee whistled down the play. Petri disagreed with the whistle.

"Their goalie was hurt but Meramec would have had to control the ball for the ref to call time," Petri said. "When we get the ball the play should have continued."

A drop ball ensued and Meramec cleared it from its end of the field. It was the last threat the Stars would make.

"I thought we could have come back if they let that play continue," Petri said. "We would have had the ball and an empty net to shoot at. It was a lot of offense left but the play didn't go our way and those are the breaks."

Goalkeeper Scott Boedy got the shut out for Meramec.

Stars fall to Meramec

By Carl Jacobs
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Campus Stars needed to play a perfect soccer game to beat the Meramec Warriors on Wednesday at Meramec.

Granite City accomplished the task earlier in the year at home when they defeated Meramec 1-0. But the Stars made two mistakes in the rematch and lost to the Warriors 2-0.

A missed kick by a Star defender put the ball on the foot of Bob Poole of Meramec, who promptly put the ball in the net at 4:26 into the game. Then midfielder Tom Bufo received a red card, ejecting him from the game for "wild play."

"That hurt because we were very much in the game," said Star head coach Larry Petri. "You not going to come back one man down."

Meramec went on top 2-0 in the second half when Bufo on deflected a crossing pass from Poole. Bathon was on the left edge of the goal when he passed put him alone in front of a

Spikers win 17th game

The Granite City volleyball team had no trouble disposing of the Roxana Shells, 15-0 and 15-2, in Wednesday's match.

The starting Lady Warriors didn't break a sweat as Roxana stumbled their way to a 12-0 deficit in the first game. Wendy Knollman and Tammy LeVault both spiked points for good measure.

Roxana continued to have trouble getting the ball over the net in the second game. They hit the ball out eight straight times before Granite City coach Don Deterding replaced all his starters with reserves.

"We knew this team wouldn't pose any threat to us," Deterding said. "She makes our offense complete when she is out there."

Granite's win over Roxana was the Warriors' 17th of the year. No. 1 Warrior volleyball team has reached the 20-game plateau.

Golfers fail to make state tourney

The Granite City golf team failed to qualify their team or any individuals for the state tournament this year.

The team finished seventh in the Edwardsville Sectional with a score of 247. Quincy won the tournament with a score of 316, Jacksonville was runner-up with 330 and Stephen Decatur finished third with 333.

Derek Tratan finished third among the individuals with a score of 76 but he was not eligible because he did not finish among the top 12 in the regional.

"The golf coaches are trying change that rule," said Granite City coach Russ Chappell. "If your team qualifies for the sectional like we did, all golfers on your team should be eligible."

Granite City had three sub-par performances from Chad Lane, Mike McCormick and Mike Edwards. Chappell was hoping for scores in the seventies but Lane shot 87, McCormick 90 and Edwards 91.

"Edwardsville's is a tough course but we really didn't shoot our game," Chappell said. "We only hit nine greens with four players for 18 rounds. That means we didn't even get to the green in three shots so we had a chance to make par with two puts on the green."

KERRI WECKMAN of Granite City High School finished second in the Southwestern Conference Tournament. She defeated a highly rated Brandy Hagan of Belleville East to reach the final.

Weckman takes 2nd in conference meet; Granite City finishes third

As a team, Granite City finished third with 21 points. Belleville East won the tournament with 41 points and Belleville West was the runner-up with 35 points. Weckman defeated Carla Fox of East St. Louis 10-6 in the quarterfinal round, upset Brandy Hagan of Belleville West in the semifinal round of action and battle East netter Jennifer Simpson before falling to the senior in the final.

Weckman defeated Hagan 3-6, 7-5, 6-2 to advance to play Jennifer Simpson of Belleville East. Weckman took the lead over Simpson 1-0 despite only 30 minutes between her semifinal and final matches. Meanwhile, the final match was Simpson's only of the day.

Simpson cameback to gain a 4-5 lead and won the next two games to take the first set. Weckman battle Simpson in the second set but fell to the talented Simpson 6-4.

Stallings' substitute offense looking for spark

By Ed Kamen
Journal Staff Writer

With substitutes on the field and 143 total yards of offense—4 yards passing—the football Cardinals managed to pull off a 24-19 victory last Sunday over the New Orleans Saints.

Scouting at the numbers, Big Red head coach Gene Stallings was only concerned about the game's final outcome. "We won the ballgame, that's all that's important right now," Stallings said. "There's no substitute for victory."

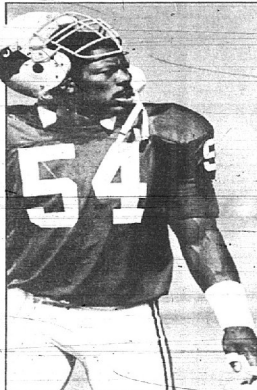

In some spots, however, there may be no substitutes for the substitutes. Before facing the San Francisco 49ers (3-1) Sunday at Candlestick Park, Stallings' troops have a number of problems to resolve. Foremost on the list is establishing some sort of consistent offense.

"We definitely have to move the ball better," said Stallings, remaining undecided about who will start at quarterback for the Big Red (2-2) Sunday, either Shawn Halloran or upstart Sammy Garza, who appeared in his first NFL game against New Orleans.

Stallings admitted that Halloran may have been forced to bite off more than he could chew against New Orleans. However, Garza's right arm was barely noticeable either during the time he ran the offense.

"We'll concentrate on our passing game a little more (this week)," Stallings said.

Derrick McAdoo, who rushed for 94 yards on 20 carries, led what offensive charge there was against the Saints. But in the long run it was another stellar game by the Big Red defense that E.J. Junior leads a defense that last week scored two touchdowns.

Although Stallings pointed to "big plays" as the key to the win, the real key may have been the ability of the defense to keep the Saints down in the final minutes.

The Big Red jumped out to a 17-0 lead early, then had to hold on for the win, despite being outscored 19-7 the rest of the way. And it was witnessed by a paltry crowd of just over 11,000—the third-smallest turnout in the league for the day.

Although the crowd was disappointing, most football people have tried to link the Big Red's attendance to the baseball Cardinals success. To most area sports fans it is still baseball season. However, those same people feel the strike by the NFL Players Association is coming to an end. As of midweek, 21 regular Big Red players had returned to the fold.

The NFLPA appears to be making concessions in its negotiations with NFL owners—at least enough to offer a ray of hope to the fans. However, Tuesday the owners rejected the players' demand for binding arbitration to settle the disputed issues and the NFLPA declined to send the players back to work.

Nevertheless, the Cardinals find themselves in the thick of the NFC Eastern Division race. But a Neil Lomax here and a Stump Mitchell there could make a big difference to an indifferent offensive attack.

As one anonymous returning Big Red player said, "We haven't lost any ground (because of the strike), but we could have. It's just a matter of time before things get back to normal around here."

Missouri to battle Cyclones

By Jim Easer
Journal Staff Writer

Things are slightly less than copesetic in Columbia, Mo. these days.

Woody Widenhofer's wagon stopped off for a couple of quaffs after last Saturday's homecoming, dismantling of Kansas State, and the coach was hauled in for drunken driving for the second time. He was arrested and charged with driving-while-intoxicated several years ago in Pennsylvania, but later was acquitted.

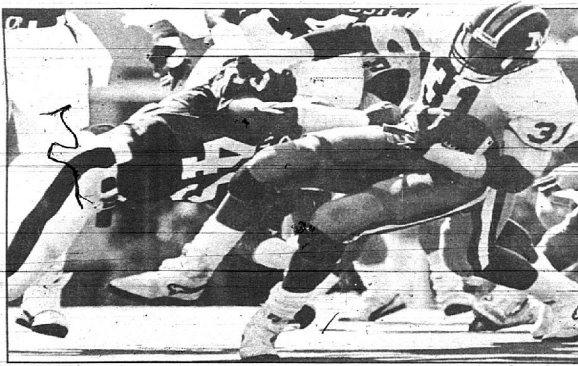

Meanwhile, Wundenkind Tony VanZant can't keep his lip zipped, earning a tongue lashing Sunday from Widenhofer. The angry head coach took VanZant behind the woodshed. "I told Tony to keep his mouth shut and grow up a little bit," Widenhofer said. "Let some people have their day in the sun; keep working hard and you'll be able to play more."

Apparently "Touchdown" Tony moaned too long and too hard to the media after the Kansas State game about playing second fiddle to running backs Darrell Wallace and Robert Delino.

Somewhat, the Tigers (3-2) need to concentrate on Iowa State's Cyclones, who Missouri visits Saturday. The Tigers, who are looking for their second consecutive Big Eight victory, have not opened conference play with two consecutive wins since 1960. Kickoff is 1 p.m.

Iowa State (1-4) earned its first victory of the season last Saturday, coming from behind to edge NCAA Division I-AA Northern Iowa, 39-38.

First-year head coach Jim Walden is paying for former head coach Jim Criner's sins. Iowa State is on NCAA probation and has only 58 players on scholarship; a team is allowed 95.

Missouri running back Tommy Stowers is one of the reasons fellow running back Tony VanZant has seen limited action in the Tigers' flex-bone.

If Walden's not winning, at least he's good at gimmicks. This fall, Walden and popular Iowa State basketball head coach Johnny Orr posed for a Bartles-K-Jaymes-type poster, trying to whip up support for the Cyclones' program. The posters sold like hot cakes and season tickets took a dramatic swing upward.

Walden's becoming a latent folk hero in Iowa these days.

"I enjoyed that win over Northern Iowa," he said. "It was an emotional lift. I was proud of the team because we played hard and kept our heads in the game. My goal was to win a game, now we're ready to get the second one."

Walden may feel a little overmatched against Missouri.

"Missouri plays hard on defense," he said. "But if Missouri comes up here, screws around and turns over the ball, we'll take the win."

The Cyclones have been out-scored by their opponents 228 to 147, but appear to have finally found a leader in 6-foot-2, 197-pound senior quarterback Brett Sadek.

"Brett is finally learning how to run our offense, understanding his role," Walden said. "He's finally buying what we're trying to sell."

Widenhofer said Missouri will not take Iowa State lightly. "We're so young and not that powerful a team," he said. "We're just concentrating and getting better. We certainly aren't in the position to take anyone lightly."

White, Illini look to break slide

By Jim Woodcock
Journal Staff Writer

There was a lot of turmoil, and subsequent house cleaning, the last time a University of Illinois football team finished the first portion of the season with a 1-4 record.

The year was 1979, and the 2-8-1 final record that then-coach Gary Moeller finished up with was good enough for a transfer back to Michigan, where he previously was defensive coordinator. Other changes followed, including the hiring of offense-minded head coach Mike White, and four seasons later the Illini beat every team in the Big Ten route to a 1984 Rose Bowl berth.

No one is suggesting this time that the Illinois coach is in trouble. The Illini, though, have come full circle, and Illinois fans are reliving the days when football Saturdays were exercises in frustration.

Entering Saturday's 2:30 p.m. home contest against Wisconsin, Illinois is 1-4 and grasping to find ways to reverse its course for the second half of the season. The current scenario in Champaign is not what White expected at the season's outset, and following last week's 9-3 defeat to then-winless Purdue, he's wondering if and when it will change.

"Since the Rose Bowl, when we should have had a confident expectancy of winning, we started slipping," White said. "And last year we slipped again, and now this year we're still in the same frame of mind."

The Illini's two most recent games are testimony to White's frustrations. In the 10-6 loss to Ohio State at home and last week's defeat at Purdue, the Illini had ample opportunity to win even without having to rely on the offensive fireworks that used to be the team's trademark.

This season, though, Illinois possessions have rarely been fruitful. The Illini have only six touchdowns in five games, the place-kicking has been erratic and the coaching staff hasn't been comfortable with either former starting quarterback Brian Menkhausen or current starter Scott Norr.

If there has been a bright spot it's been the Illinois defense, which has allowed an average of only 17.2 points per game.

"We've had two games the past two weeks where maybe I shouldn't say we should have, but we certainly could have, won the football games."

Under first-year coach Don Morton, Wisconsin lost at home last week to Iowa 31-10.

Wisconsin, which last year claimed Illinois as one of its victims in a 3-9 season, is in a tight underdog despite a superior 2-3 overall mark. The Badgers, like the Illini, are 0-2 in conference play.
